On the demand side, exporters and strategic planners focusing on machines for sorting or folding mail for inserting in envelopes, opening or closing mail, and affixing or canceling postage stamps in Japan face a number of questions. Which countries are supplying machines for sorting or folding mail for inserting in envelopes, opening or closing mail, and affixing or canceling postage stamps to Japan? How important is Japan compared to others in terms of the entire global and regional market? How much do the imports of machines for sorting or folding mail for inserting in envelopes, opening or closing mail, and affixing or canceling postage stamps vary from one country of origin to another in Japan? On the supply side, Japan also exports machines for sorting or folding mail for inserting in envelopes, opening or closing mail, and affixing or canceling postage stamps. Which countries receive the most exports from Japan? How are these exports concentrated across buyers? What is the value of these exports and which countries are the largest buyers?

This report was created for strategic planners, international marketing executives and import/export managers who are concerned with the market for machines for sorting or folding mail for inserting in envelopes, opening or closing mail, and affixing or canceling postage stamps in Japan. With the globalization of this market, managers can no longer be contented with a local view. Nor can managers be contented with out-of-date statistics which appear several years after the fact. I have developed a methodology, based on macroeconomic and trade models, to estimate the market for machines for sorting or folding mail for inserting in envelopes, opening or closing mail, and affixing or canceling postage stamps for those countries serving Japan via exports, or supplying from Japan via imports. It does so for the current year based on a variety of key historical indicators and econometric models.
