The Turning Point: Roosevelt, Stalin, Churchill, and Chiang-Kai-Shek, 1943 : The Moscow, Cairo, and Teheran Conferences Keith Sainsbury

Though much has been written about the second and third encounters of Stalin, Roosevelt and Churchill at Yalta and Potsdam, their first meeting at Teheran has been unaccountably neglected. This book sets out to repair that omission and bring to light the people and decisions that changed the course of history at Teheran. Setting all three conferences in the context of other key events in 1943, it shows how Teheran was, in many ways, the "turning point" of the war and reveals a critical and often neglected event in recent history.
